Probe Widow's Death Near Slippery Rock

(International News Service)
SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 2.—Police opened an investigation today of the death of Mrs. Laura Double Kelly, 75, a widow, whose body was found floating in a well on her farm home, near here, her head badly crushed.

Elmer Double, 65, a brother of the victim, was sought for questioning by police who said they were told Double was last seen at the widow's home Monday and has not been seen since. Although believed to have been of considerable means, Mrs. Kelly, neighbors said, did not keep much money around her house and lived alone.

Meanwhile, authorities said they will pump out the water in the well today in their search for the possible weapon they believed battered out the aged woman's life.

Double, according to police, has not been seen since Monday, although his automobile has been parked outside his New Kensington home.

Ethiopian War End May Be Negotiated

(BULLETIN)
ROME, April 2.—The Italian government is putting itself in direct contact with the League of Nations committee of thirteen for negotiations with a view to finding a basis for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war, it was announced officially today.

This is being done in answer to a request yesterday by Salvador De Madariaga of Spain, acting for the committee of thirteen, a conciliation body charged with the task of contacting both Italy and Ethiopia to see if a basis for negotiating can be found.

Britain and France are believed anxious to bring about a speedy settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy in order to win Italy's full support in Locarno action regarding Germany. Italy will not give this as long as League sanctions are in effect against her.

TRENTON, N. J., April 2.—As grimly silent as when he entered the grand jury room, Gov. Harold G. Hoffman strode from that witness room at 12:10 p. m., today, after testifying for nearly an hour and a half before the Mercer County grand jury probing the so-called "confession" of Paul H. Wendel to the kidnaping of Baby Lindbergh.

"No comment," said the governor with a wave of his hand to reporters as he closed the witness room door.

"Did you testify before the grand jury?" should the newshawks.

"I did," said the governor.

All other questions were waved aside as, preceded by two state troopers, the governor pushed his way through the milling mob in the courthouse corridors.

He walked through the rain to his automobile parked in front of the courthouse and was driven immediately away.

Jaffie Called
It was definitely learned a summons also had been sent to Dr. John F. (Jaffie) Condon, star witness at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, whose life hangs on the outcome of the jury's deliberations.

Condon was reported on his way here, though this was not confirmed.

The governor was before the jury for over an hour. As he left, Attorney General David T. Wilentz arrived to go before the inquisitorial body.

It was reported at the hospital that Crouch stepped out in the street in front of Dicks' car, and was knocked to the pavement.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—It is solemnly announced that the Mack Committee, having accumulated 5,000,000 telegrams, has terminated its "field investigation" and search and seizure is over for the moment. We may now picture the distinguished senatorial snoopers up to their eyebrows in their booty; familiarizing themselves with the contents of the millions of trophies of their acquisitive engagements in the congenial occupation of ferreting out other peoples' business.

There is prompt denial that these exponents of rectitude who are pursuing the representatives of Mammon to their lair are in the least intimidated by the public criticism that their inquisitorial procedure has aroused.

Nevertheless, there is a noticeable decrease of bellicose statements from Senator Black and his cohorts, that undoubtedly reflects the indignation of a large number of citizens who realize that senatorial precedent may be used as an excuse for arbitrary expropriation of their private communications.

The American people are slowly beginning to recognize that their government is assuming a tyrannical authority to pry into and order every individual's personal existence.

Report Quantities Of Ammunition And War Materials Are Left

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, April 2.—Following a two-day fight, the "battle of Anyk-Dolon" has ended with the repulse of the Japanese-Manchukuo forces, according to dispatches today from outer Mongolia, and the losers have left quantities of ammunition and other war materials on outer Mongolian soil as proof of their "invasion."

Heavy losses were suffered on both sides, telegrams said, when the Japanese seized the post at Anyk-Dolon, 28 miles inside Mongolian territory.

No soldiers or officers of the U. S. S. R. were involved in the clash, it was stated in Moscow.

Extensive Search Locates Missing New Bedford Boy

Nine-year-old Edward McGarry was back safe at his home near New Bedford today after a night of anxiety and searching brought about when he wandered off about dusk last night and became lost in the fog-laden darkness of a marsh almost two miles from his home.

A neighbor searcher, Joseph Kuhn, one of a host of New Bedford volunteers who combed the countryside all night long for the missing boy, found Edward around 10:30 this morning in the swamp near the Alf. Allison farm.

"Mr. Kuhn told us Edward was all right," Constable Robert McClenahan's home at New Bedford told The News a short time after the finding.

State Buys Land As Site For Big Highway Building

TO HOUSE OFFICES AND ALL MACHINERY

New Castle is assured a state highway building, costing around $125,000, with the purchase from A. S. Moore of Neshannock township of a plot of ground on the New Castle-New Wilmington road, just outside the city limits.

A plot of the land purchased, placed on record at the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, shows it to be located at the northeast intersection of the New Castle-New Wilmington road with Clemmore boulevard.

The plot has a frontage of about 310 feet on the Wilmington road and extends back along Clemmore boulevard a distance of 750 feet. There is an old brick house on the property, which under the agreement of sale is to be removed by A. S. Moore, the former owner. Work on demolishing the building has already started.

Superintendent John S. Shaw of the state highway department states that the department had three sites under consideration, the Carnegie site formerly occupied by the Rosena furnace, one on Butler avenue and the one on Wilmington avenue. Highway officials who looked them over with Superintendent Shaw, were impressed with the advantages of the Wilmington road site for the reason that it is easy of access from all directions.

The new building which is to be erected will be somewhat after the order of that which was built by the state highway department at Mercer. It will be a one-story structure, sufficiently large to accommodate

Hanlon Gives Motor Route To Harrisburg

For the benefit of the basketball fans who expect to drive to Harrisburg for the state championship game between New Castle and Newport Saturday night, April 4, B. N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor club has arranged the best motor route available.

The recent flood and the heaving of highways due to frost has made some sections of the regular routes almost impassable. The route Mr. Hanlon has laid out is the best one available at this time.

From New Castle take route 422 through Butler, Kittanning, and Indiana to Ebsburg. At Ebsburg, route 422 merges into 22, the William Penn highway. Take 22 through to Cresson, Hollidaysburg, Huntingdon to Mill Creek.

At Mill Creek, do not go through on the concrete highway which is 22 but turn left onto route 76, a macadam road leading through Bellevue, Reedsville and Yeagertown to Lewistown. At Lewistown, swing back onto route 22 through Millfintown and Thompsonstown to Newport.

At Newport take route 5 through to New Bloomfield, Macks Corners, and Duncannon. This route brings you into Market Street bridge, which crosses over into the heart of Harrisburg.

After having skirted the west coast of Africa, flying over the Canary Islands on its southwesterly voyage, the Von Hindenburg passed a half mile south of Boa Vista in the Cape Verde Islands, at 8:00 a. m. (5:00 a. m. E. S. T.) and then pointed toward the Brazilian coast.

The Cape Verdes are several hundred miles off the African coast, they represented the last land the Zeppelin passengers will see in the old world on the present trip.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The shadow of the electric chair enveloped blonde Vera Stretz again today.

It crept closer as general sessions Justice Cornelius F. In argument upon the motion, Justice Collins had indicated he doubted the sufficiency in law of portions of the state's case to justify a first degree murder charge.

Cash receipts of $322.75, and 151 paid-up members, were reported by Y. W. C. A. membership campaign workers at their first report luncheon Wednesday afternoon, and many pledges were cited.

A very satisfactory response to the request for increase of the number of sustaining memberships was reported by the workers. They were enthused by the fact that the 151 members secured so far had paid $322.75. Many of those solicited paid $5.00, $10.00 and $15.00 instead of the usual one dollar contribution.

It was stated that some former members had come to the Y. W. C. A. and paid their memberships in response to the printed folder which was sent to all prospects.

Dr. Hugo Eckner Is Reported At Odds With Nazi Regime

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

BERLIN, April 2.—A strong likelihood is developing that the giant dirigible Von Hindenburg will go to the United States May 6 without the veteran Zeppelin commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, unless the rift between him and the Nazi regime is patched up soon, it was stated today in reliable quarters.

Dr. Eckener, it is understood, came to grips with the air ministry during the last week of the Reichstag election campaign, when he was said to have refused to fly the Von Hindenburg over Germany as an election stunt.

Finally he was given the alternative of obeying orders or vacating his post as commander.

Although the Von Hindenburg actually did make a 72-hour flight all over the Reich just before the election, with pamphlets dropping and loud speakers blaring, Dr. Eckener, so far as can be authoritatively learned, is still "in disgrace."

For this reason he was not permitted to pilot the Von Hindenburg on her current maiden voyage to South America. He went along as "flight supervisor," but Capt. Ernst Lehmann is actual commander.

German newspapers have been forbidden to mention Dr. Eckener's name in connection with the flight.

For the last month it has been rumored that Dr. Eckener is slated to retire by mutual consent during the coming year.

Georgia Tornado Fatal For Seven

Upwards Of 100 Injured As Tornado Strikes Sleeping
Town Of Cordele, Ga.

(International News Service)

CORDELE, Ga., April 2.—At least seven persons are known to have been killed in their sleep early today and upwards of 100 injured when a tornado virtually demolished two blocks in the residential section of this town.

County authorities expressed the fear the death toll would reach at least 15 or 20.

The storm struck without warning, demolishing houses, uprooting trees and disrupting communication lines. The town was entirely cut off from the outside world for several hours after the storm struck, and even then telephone and telegraphic service was uncertain.

Saw Seven Bodies
"I personally saw seven bodies, and a hurried survey indicates that between 15 or 20 persons lost their lives," Sheriff J. H. Pitts of Crisp county asserted.

Names of the victims could not be learned immediately.

The storm struck shortly before 6 a. m. while the residents of the town were still asleep, and the victims had no chance to seek safety before the full fury of the storm was upon them.

ETHIOPIANS CLAIM VICTORY

Deny Rout By Italian Forces

Italians, However, See Haile Selassie Forced Soon To Sue For Peace

CASUALTIES IN BATTLE HEAVY

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
ADDIS ABABA, April 2.—Ethiopian headquarters today claimed a tremendous victory over Italian forces in the fierce battle of Mai Cio, north of Lake Ashangi.

Seventeen hundred Italians and two thousand Eritrean troops were killed, according to the Ethiopian account, which was based on completely fictitious Italian dispatches saying Emperor Haile Selassie's force had been routed with a loss of 7000 Ethiopians.

Abyssinian losses were estimated here at 800 killed.

Pushing back the Italian first army corps, it was asserted, the Abyssinians captured and held four important fortifications below Amba Alagi.

Haile Selassie Must Ask Peace

With The Northern Italian Army In The Field, Via Asmara, April 2.—Emperor Haile Selassie, his personally-commanded army routed with a loss of 7000 men, must now sue for peace, high Italian army authorities predicted today.

As the remnants of his force of 20,000 fell back in disorder in the vicinity of Lake Ashangi, mobile units of the Italian first army corps maintained hot pursuit, and artillery and aircraft kept up a continuous bombardment to prevent the emperor's re-forming his troops for a desperate stand north of Dessie.

Prisoners in the hands of the Italians said today that Ras Figaba Testu, commander of the emperor's personal guards, was seriously wounded in the day-long fighting Tuesday.

During lulls in the bombardment, Italian advance troops could hear the sound of funeral songs and the wail of instruments playing dirges, indicating that many high Abyssinian personages had fallen in the fight.

The body was discovered by two relatives from New Kensington, Pa., who rushed here when they learned from a neighbor that Mrs. Kelly had not been seen for several days.

Blood stains leading 150 feet from the house to the well led to the discovery. Physicians indicated there were no evidences of drowning.

LOCAL D. A. C. MEMBERS HEAR OF "PENNSBURY"

Efforts that are being made to excavate "Pennsbury", the old home of William Penn, the "Father of Pennsylvania", and restore it to its original beauty back in 1683, were described by Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, state archaeologist, at the state conference of Daughters of American Colonists held Tuesday in Warren.

A large sum of money has already been allotted for this project in which descendants of all early settlers are interested, but it will take much more before the memorial can be completed. Means are being furthered by all D. A. C. chapters to raise this money before July, when the amount now on hand will have been used.

"Pennsbury" is located on the Delaware river, in Bucks county, near Trenton, N. J. It was a picturesque place at one time, and it is hoped to make the spot even more beautiful for visiting tourists of the future.

Dr. Cadzow's talk was the chief feature of the conference which was attended by large delegations from this district. Kus Kus Ka chapter, which comprises five nearby counties, including Lawrence, was represented by Mrs. Morford Throckmorton, regent, of Beaver; Mrs. Charles Greer, Mrs. Benjamin Beisel, Mrs. A. T. TRIVIAL NEWS EMPHASIS

AN ECONOMICS professor in Oklahoma recently gave 50 students a general information test. He asked them to identify John L. Lewis, Sinclair Lewis and Joe Louis. All 50 were able to identify the last. Some even knew his height, weight, number of fights to date and the number of opponents he has knocked out.

Thirty-eight of the 50 identified Sinclair Lewis, most of them a bit vaguely, as an American novelist.

Only eight of the students could identify John L. Lewis, although the head of the United Mine Workers of America happens to be the leader of an important labor movement and one of the most significant men in American public life. Economic students specially ought to have known more about him.

Some people might blame the professor and his colleagues for not having taught their students better. Others might blame the newspapers for making Joe Louis more interesting than the other two Lewises. The professor himself, in a letter to Heywood Brown, places the blame in still another place.

"It is not," he says, "a reflection on college students so much as it is on our contemporary American civilization. We devote an enormous amount of time, energy and enthusiasm to trivial matters and neglect things that are really important."

ALL SET FOR NAVAL RACE

It is perhaps charitable to observe that the new naval treaty signed at London represents about the best that could be had in view of Japan's aloofness and the glowering menace of the Hitlerized Reich. Great Britain, France and the United States could scarcely be expected to make extensive concessions along lines of disarmament with so many disturbing factors visible at every hand.

The upshot of the treaty is that Great Britain and the United States virtually agree to maintain naval parity, but just where this will end if other nations insist upon engaging in a real naval race is by no means clear.

International conditions being what they are, no genuinely significant moves in the direction of arms reduction are at all possible. About everything that can be expected is the kind of a tentative and reluctant concord like that which has just issued from a parley in which the respective participants were jittery, suspicious and relatively insincere.

PLANNED SCARCITY BUT UNPLANNED IMPORTS

With the coming of the New Deal some strange and new doctrines were enunciated—at least they were new to Americans, although some students of economics tell us that they have been tried out time and again and found wanting so far as ushering a new era of prosperity is concerned.

One of the new theories coined the slogan "Prosperity through scarcity." We were told one thing wrong with the American farmer was that he produced too much, that he could only get rich by curtailing his production.

The thing seems to have worked "better" than was even anticipated. The planned scarcity of Mr. Wallace and his friends was supplemented by a plan of nature's own, one which went the professors considerably better, with the resultant drought and dust storms.

The result of the planning was that the American farmer had not only balanced production, but an actual shortage. Prices went higher, but the farmer did not have much to sell and the benefit of these prices went to the foreign producer.

Agricultural exports mounted month after month. Some figures recently issued by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce furnish eloquent testimony as to how the alien farmer benefited at the expense of the American agriculturist.

For example, in 1934 the United States imported 7,736,532 bushels of wheat, while in 1935 the number of bushels imported was 27,438,870. In 1934 Uncle Sam bought 2,959,256 bushels of foreign corn, while in 1935, because of planned scarcity and drought, he was compelled to buy 43,242,296 bushels, all of which should have been raised on American farms so that our American farmers might have earned the money.

The importation of oats gained 100 per cent in 1935 over 1934, while the importation of butter rose from 1,107,020 pounds to 22,674,642 pounds. The new reciprocity treaty with Canada will not improve this situation in the least, and our dairy farmers are beginning to find it out.

In 1934 we imported 140,464 pounds of fresh beef, and in 1935 it was 22,674,642 pounds. The figures with respect to pork are especially interesting, owing to the kill-the-pig program which the A. A. A. gave us over two years ago. In 1934 we imported 140,474 pounds of fresh pork, and in 1935 we took in 3,922,609 pounds, in lieu of the slaughtering of the little pigs and brood sows by government planning in the pork-producing states of the Middle West.

The importation of canned meat gained about 30,000,000 pounds in 1935 and there were tremendous increases in hides and tallow.

Evidently planned agricultural scarcity in America is fine—for the importer and the alien farmer. But if we want to help the American agriculturist to get on his feet without doles or other forms of benefit, we ought to encourage him to produce more, at least to the point where the protective tariff will act as some barrier against the flood of agricultural imports from abroad.

There won't be equality of sexes until there is a mythical Forgotten Woman.

Many projects never get beyond the blueprint stage. Could planned economy be one of them?

There are two kinds of lobby, virtuous and vicious. The distinction is a matter of partisan choice.

"The fool that eats till he is sick must fast till he is well." The wise plan is to keep in touch with the stomach.

A couple of congressmen brand each other as a "fool" and a "jack-ass." Now that this problem is solved the lawmakers can turn to something constructive.

It's rather difficult to restrain our admiration for the enterprise of thieves who have gotten away during the last few days with a 400-pound church bell, a cement mixer and a steam roller.

Hauptmann Gets Stay.
Fear Worst Punishment.
Read Pickwick Papers.
England Watches Nile.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HAUPTMANN, his death again postponed, was given 48 hours of certain life, plus the possibilities of the final outcome of a strangely-mixed murder case.

The brief stay, granted because another had "confessed" the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby, was to give a grand jury investigating that new turn in the case time to complete its inquiry.

It came at the close of a day of great anxieties, and uncertainties, almost as Hauptmann was to start on that "LAST MARCH" from which no man returns.

IT HAD BEEN a day of terror and tears for Hauptmann. Every detail for his execution had been completed.

Civilization that kills a man for killing another sticks to the custom of giving him more than he can eat before killing him. To Hauptmann's cell early in the morning a guard took corn flakes, poached eggs, coffee, toast.

Hauptmann, told that he could have anything else he wanted, ate nothing. Guards said that he had wept a good deal, his nerve having at last given way; he had spent the night from ten to five in the morning, writing at great length to his mother in Germany.

A WELL KNOWN American frequently says, in speeches:

"It is not so much the length of the step, as the direction."

After long waiting, Richard Bruno Hauptmann, Tuesday night, was to have taken a few steps, only a few steps, in a direction away from this world to the coffin and whatever comes afterwards.

A short walk, with the prison clergyman beside him, along the prison corridor, two steps through the door of the death house, very convenient, in that prison, seven steps across the chamber of death to the electric chair; then a long journey.

AFTER THOSE seven steps across the death chamber, come the application of the electrodes on skull and leg, and the strapping down, there is sensation, no pain.

The real punishment is horrible fear. With some, although it does not seem to prevent murders, it is (Continued On Page Eight)

THE DARE OF SPRING

Look what those silly trees are doing! Did you ever see such a thing?

All winter long they've been so sober, so bare, so unobtrusive. . . . Not a leaf on them, just stark brown limbs swaying in the wind, not a sign of life on them anywhere. . . . But now look at them.

Pink popcorn stuffs all over them. Clouds of pink butterflys resting on every limb, taking wing when the wind blows and floating so gracefully down to the earth. . . . Look! All those trees, all along the street suddenly popping out in bloom. How silly, how sweet, how perfect.

My Lady Spring, she must be here. The lovely mix, she came softly up behind us and put her pink-petal hands over our eyes and whispered, "Guess who it is!" And when she took them away again, all those trees had burst into bloom and that loud roar across the street was straining his tiny throat for joy.

This suit of mine is looking shabby. I ought to have a new one. These shoes have seen their noblest days. And what I need is a bright orange tie, and those black socks I wear are tearful, no less.

Spring's here; those trees are all in bloom. A fellow'd better spruce a bit and throw his shoulders back and dump his load of solemn thought and swagger down the street. . . . Sing in his bath, shame those trilling birds, grin occasionally, run for street cars, rise a few minutes earlier, meet the punctual sun half way, and mix a dash of nonsense with his conduct.

Play the golf, wear a flower and be as decorative as those flowering trees that make such a carnival in the town.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:25; sun rises tomorrow 5:42.

The trouble with this country seems to be that we are trying to run it with only one vice president.

"Here" lamented a North Hill woman "is another invitation from Mrs. X, asking us to one of her dull parties."

"Tell her we have a previous engagement" said her husband. "No," she replied virtuously, "That would be a lie, I'll write and tell her we accept with pleasure."

Americanism: Howling when the government threatens liberty; emptying the till to pay the racketeer's agent rather than have trouble.

When one particular party in Japan loses out, somebody just says, "Oh, shoot!" And they do.

Southern gentlemen are so perversely polite that it has been necessary to post signs in elevators of tall buildings telling the men to keep their hats on. Hats take up room, poke people in the eyes and often get battered. No need to post signs in any elevators here, we're not southern gentlemen.

Of course it would be foolish for a court to enjoin the Senate, but it might prevent a lot more foolishness at that.

The government can suppress evil men; the big job is to get around the fatal schemes of idiots who mean well.

In the basement of a new building at Harrisburg there is a sign which reads, "This is the house that Jack built." It's a cafeteria for employees of the revenue department. In the center of the store there's a picture of John B. Kelly, Revenue secretary. Jack built it all right, but it was not John's Jack.

When he says, "There oughta be a law," he means that he wishes to force his neighbors to do his way.

FALSE ALARM
Boss (to pretty stenographer): Are you doing anything on Sunday evening, Miss Dale.
Steno: (hopefully) No, not a thing.
Boss: Then try to be at the office early Monday morning, will you?

It is claimed that a force equivalent to 435 horsepower is generated on a cloudless day by the sun shining on the earth. Sometime someone will discover a way to harness this heat and store it up for use in the winter time.

They tell you to cultivate a soft voice, but how can anybody hear you above the radio if you don't holler?

A recent story about the new English king makes the statement that while he was the Prince of Wales he was very thrifty. That certainly shows foresight, but why shouldn't the prince save for a "reigny" day?

WHY REALTY AGENTS AGE
We spent a few minutes in a real estate office yesterday, and watched the agent get gray headed. Here are some of the calls that came in over the telephone: "The hot water spigot is leaking." "The plaster fell from our kitchen ceiling." "Won't you paper two rooms for us." "Our floors need refinishing." "The commode is leaking." "Can't we have some paint for the bathroom?" "The furnace smokestack is burned out." "Our sink is clogged." "Two front steps are broken." "There's water in the cellar." "Our lights have gone off." "There's a leak somewhere about the house." "The wind blew out a pane of glass." "The sewer is clogged." "That's the way it goes all day long," observed the agent wearily, as the telephone rang again.

A hick town is a place where everybody suffers when nobody can learn the nature of Mrs. Smith's operation.

Now that the long winter and the floods have passed, and we're getting back to stability, we can take the political situation where we left off. Let's see, who are the candidates and for what? And is there going to be any half-pulling or mud slinging. It's sort of an off year so far as county offices are concerned, but there are several "good jobs" higher up and maybe we'll get an earful yet.

At last they were at their door and breathed a sigh of relief, when, horrors, they had left the keys with the hotel clerk.

The World At A Glance

Readers Have Say Today.
Many Comments On Problems.
Suggests Planned Economy.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

READERS ARE EAGER to be heard in this column. "We shall quote from a few today."

Frank A. Rhuland of Beverly, Mass., writes:

"We have a serious situation on our hands (in the United States). The way out is not in sight. You have pointed that out repeatedly in your writings."

"You have asked your readers to make suggestions. That an obscure school teacher should have a plan which will solve our most pressing problem does not seem conceivable. Yet there has grown in my mind for several years the conviction that a nation-wide amalgamation of all the agencies of relief, insurance, pensions, etc., organized into a coherent system which the man on the street can understand and the budgetary costs of which can be accurately measured and provided for by direct taxation is the only solution that will be found eventually."

NOT TO JAIL
A member of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice says:

"We heard at a meeting that there was a bill in Washington that could put us all into jail."

No. The bill referred to is the anti-lobby bill passed by the house and now before the senate. It provides that those whose chief activities influence legislation in Washington must file with the clerk of the house of representatives such information as salary, names of clients, and how money collected to fight legislation is spent.

The bill is an outcome of the expenditures of millions, by lobbyists to influence legislation.

It has been difficult to lay hands on lobbyists without such a law.

PLANNED ECONOMY
William Owen of West Palm Beach, Fla., writes:

"Again you speak of millions out of work. What kind of a planned society would allow 10 million idle men? Would men be idle if we had a planned economy, and every factory was required to make its share of what the country needed?"

"To cure unemployment, put men to work in private industry. Do this by organizing along the lines of NRA, but with this addition: Have production planning boards over each industry. The duty of these boards should be to plan ahead the quantity of goods that should be produced by the industry as a whole, and to assign to each employer a quota of goods which it should be his duty to make. The government should guarantee him against loss if he made the goods, and should impose a heavy tax if he did not. The money derived from this tax should be used in support of the unemployed."

Along with this, limit working hours to such an extent that all available workers would be required on the job. Also regulate wages so that the workers would be able to buy back the goods that they make, with a reasonable profit deducted for capital."

TAXATION
C. C. Willis of Junction, Utah, asserts:

"It has been a long time since I have read an article that needs an answer more than your statement on taxation."

"Do you realize that the poor people are paying a greater tax than any of the wealthy class? Just think of the high salaries, bonuses and large dividends the wealthy class is getting from producers and laborers. And taxes are handed right down to the consumers."

"The wealthy are cutting their own throats."

UNCLE SAM
Even Uncle Sam himself writes. The U. S. Resettlement administration makes clear some facts concerning farm debt adjustment. Here are a few paragraphs on rehabilitation loans.

"Rehabilitation loans are made for the purchase of necessary farm supplies, livestock, household needs, feed, seed, fertilizer, for payment of rent, taxes, and for food."

"Loans are made for periods of from two to five years, depending on the purpose for which the money is used. For example, a borrower may be given five years to return money used to buy a horse while the horse would have to be repaid within two years, as the borrower should be making his own feed within that time. The rate of interest on all rehabilitation loans is 5 per cent per year."

"The borrower gives a note on his personal property on property to be acquired through the loan, or on his prospective crop. A loan is not made unless there is good reason to believe that the borrower can pay back the money through the operation of his farm management plan."

FOR OBSERVATION
"For observation!" so they said. "You'll spend a day or two in bed and get the proper rest you should. Which in itself should do you good."

Caught by that phrase, "the proper rest," I took their observation test. Thinking, of course, that while I slept, their watchful vigils would be kept. They counted first my stock of duds. From shoes to collars, shirts and ties. That done, observers in a flock Upon my door began to knock.

They came with tubes and jars and jugs Designed as traps for deadly bugs. When they'd explored by outer skin, With rays they started looking in.

From six to seven, from seven to eight. With me observers had a date: And when the day crew homeward fled, The night shift swarmed upon my bed.

"A proper rest will do you good!" I think I rightly understood. But when they'd explored my rest, Who's on an observation test? (Copyright, 1936, Edgar A. Guest)

Answer—All those who attended the wedding reception, as well as the members of the bridal party, should pay the "first call" on you in your new home.

Membership Drive Workers Post First Figures Tonight At 6:15

First reports of the Young Men's Christian Association's three-day membership campaign will be heard when the drive workers gather in the dining hall of the "Y" for a dinner meeting tonight at 6:15.

The drive was launched at an opening dinner on Tuesday evening. Solicitation has been in progress since then.

General Chairman Joseph R. McFate and his campaign aides, working along with the members of the teams, entertained hopes of closing the campaign ahead of time tonight. The final night, as originally planned, is Friday—but it would be tonight if 800 or more members and the other goals of the drive are reached.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans and his staff kept busy supplying prospect cards to team members who continued their calls throughout the day.

The drive is the annual canvass of the association for new and renewal members.

Reserve Officers To Meet Tonight

"Flood Control" will be the subject of tonight's discussion when the Lawrence County Officers Reserve meets in Room 201 of the Federal Building. Capt. George F. Mitchell of Troop F, who has just come through a tour of flood duty at Sharpsburg will head the discussion.

A LIGHT SMOKE
OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Although the constituents of cigarette paper are, in themselves, unsurpassed in purity and wholesomeness, it may, if crudely fabricated, contribute a marked degree of irritation to cigarette smoke. Cigarette paper not only envelops the tobacco in forming a cigarette, but through its physical properties may exercise a favorable or detrimental influence upon the products of combustion. Paper for Lucky Strike Cigarettes is made under our own supervision. Samples of each lot of cigarette paper manufactured are subjected to the most rigid analysis before it is used in making Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

French Press Lashes At Hitler's Response To Locarno Powers

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 2.—As the French press lashed out at the Hitler memorandum to the Locarno powers today, government leaders coldly treated it as a flat rejection of the new Locarno proposals and turned automatically to the projected general staff consultations with Great Britain and Belgium.

Declaring negotiation with the Reich under Hitler's terms is unthinkable, the government called its foreign office experts to conference at the Quai D'Orsay today to analyze Germany's terms.

As a result of discussions at this meeting, International News Service learned, the government expects the general staff talks will take place soon, probably next week.

The French ambassadors to London, Berlin, and Rome were ordered to come to Paris for a conference at the foreign office tomorrow. This will be followed by a cabinet meeting in the afternoon, when definite decisions are expected to be taken.

It was possible a new meeting of the Locarno powers, minus Germany, would be held in Brussels next week. This at least is the French desire, and the government hoped to be able to convince Britain, Italy and Belgium of the necessity of considering immediately their next step in view of the Hitler reply.

The French had other problems on their hands, notably the threat of Hungary following Austria in the arms in violation of post-war treaties. The little entente—Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia—strongly bound to France, is disturbed at Austria's conscription move of yesterday and at the prospect of Hungary's following suit.

Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu of Rumania was to arrive in Paris tonight to debate the Central European problem and reportedly to air charges Hungary is prepared to make conscription. As a result France may convocate a conference of the little entente powers and Poland in order to view the positions of Germany, Austria and Hungary as possible allies.

State Guards To Go Into Camp At Indiantown Gap

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 2.—Preparations went ahead today for the annual summer encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard, with an announcement the Mt. Gretna reservation would be abandoned and training concentrated at Indiantown Gap.

The change was authorized, according to Lieut. Col. A. S. Jancway, deputy adjutant general, because the Mt. Gretna camp had been found "too small" for maneuvers of a complete infantry division. Heretofore, military units were divided between the two camps, located about 22 miles apart.

Only a handful of utility buildings and shops will remain in use at Mt. Gretna, Janeway said, all other activities being shifted to the 11,000-acre reservation at Indiantown Gap.

THREE PAVING BILLS ADOPTED

Council met in the City building today and adopted three ordinances which provide for the grading and paving of three thoroughfares. The WPA will provide the labor and the city will provide the material, which will be paid for by assessments against abutting property owners. The cost per foot, it has been estimated, will be $1.65. Crushed stone will be used as a base and covered with a bituminous substance. The curbing will be of concrete.

The thoroughfares to be paved are Englewood avenue, between Mercer street and Highland avenue; Charles street between Morris and Moravia streets and Raymond street between Butler avenue and Oak street.

The Chamber of Commerce and allied patriotic orders of New Castle are extending an invitation to the Pennsylvania department, Grand Army of the Republic, to have its 1937 encampment in this city. The Civil War veterans met here in 1930 and they had such a good time that they have repeatedly voiced their enthusiasm and expressed the wish to return.

New Castle's invitation will be placed in the hands of Adjutant General Samuel P. Town of Philadelphia, past commander in chief of the G. A. R., and George Gillet of Philadelphia, department commander.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting
Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly. If you remove the cause, bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby and lifeless. Salves and cutting often fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile medicine. After a fine record of success with it in his own practice, he named it HEM-ROID. Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co., and all druggists invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

Buses And Trucks Are Now Under New Regulations

Interstate Commerce Commission Rules Buses And Trucks Of State

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The nation's interstate motor carriers—buses and trucks—on Wednesday swung under the regulatory domain of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Today the rates of those carriers must have been filed with the commission, thus bringing the rate structure of buses and trucks into the same category as railroads.

This action completed operation of mandatory provisions of the 1935 Motor Carrier Act, leaving only a few discretionary phases to be handled. These involve regulations for establishment of safety requirements, and a commission study is now under way with a view to their promulgation. John Rogers is chief of the commission's new motor carrier division.

Skidmore Sullen In Jail Cell As Evidence Tightens

Young Desperado Longs To Go Back To Idaho, Faces First Degree Charge

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 2.—County detectives today began assembling the evidence by which they hope to send George Skidmore, 26, the model youth who became a hunted desperado, to the electric chair for the slaying of Charles Hammond, a crippled gasoline station attendant, in a holdup that netted $186.

As ballistic experts examined his .45 calibre gun which they said was the same size as the weapon that killed Hammond, Skidmore, now prisoner 4817 in the rogues' gallery, chafed at his confinement in a narrow cell far from the mountains of Grangeville, Idaho, where he was captured.

Government Grant. Meanwhile, detectives revealed that with a homestead stake given him by the government, Skidmore was well on his way toward becoming a substantial citizen of the little Idaho community where he lived undetected for almost six years.

They said Skidmore had become the owner of two houses, two ranches and had purchased a stake in a gold mine which he believes will some day pay big dividends.

Skidmore wore a sullen mien in the jail until detectives spoke to him of his adopted Idaho where he once competed for a county office. "I wouldn't live here 10 minutes," he said. "That's God's country out there," he added, his eyes lighting up at thoughts of the rugged mountain country where he had made his home as Fred Anderson, a pioneer.

Grace Defends Basing Point (International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 2.—Use of the basing point system in fixing the sale price of steel and steel products was stoutly defended today by Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, before the senate interstate commerce committee.

Grace testified before the committee with W. A. Irvin, president of the U. S. Steel corporation sitting by. Both men came at the "urgent request" of Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, chairman of the committee. Irvin will testify tomorrow.

They had previously declined to appear before the committee and give information regarding certain profits, sending word it would be "inconvenient" for them to come to the capital at this time.

Governor Buck May Be Landon's Running Mate

(International News Service) WILMINGTON, Del. April 2.—Governor C. Douglas Buck, Delaware Republican national committeeman who has been mentioned as possible timber for the vice presidential nomination, today said he "expects" to support the presidential candidacy of Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas.

"He is a successful business man," Buck said in commenting on his recent conference in Topeka with Landon. "Under his leadership the country can be expected to see the confidence of the business man restored."

Winter Not So Bad As Some Imagine

Records Show It Ranked Eighth In Severity In 12 Years

(International News Service) KANE, Pa., April 2.—This winter hasn't been so tough. When deep snows and low temperatures caused a hue and cry throughout the country to the effect this winter rivalled the famed blizzard of '38, the boys at the Spring Water Company, Kane's official weather works, scurried to their files to see if it really was as gosh-awful as everyone seemed to think.

The result—a collective peeling of red flannels; for the winter of 1935-36 ranks only eighth in severity in the past 12 winters. Thus far this winter in Kane there has been only a little better than seven feet of snow, 91 inches to be exact. Even if a late blizzard, such as paralyzed the east in 1888, sweeps this region, there appears to be little chance of this cold season equalling seven other winters that have piled prodigious mounds of snow on the "big level" since 1924, which is as far back as the exact records of the water company go.

Take the winter of 1924-25 for instance, when 130 inches of snow was measured. The following winter was even worse, with a total of 163 inches. The 1925-26 epic lasted seven months, beginning in October with 16 inches and ending in April with 10 1/2 inches.

JERSEY GOVERNOR GIVES TESTIMONY TO GRAND JURY

Arthur Koehler, the government word expert who linked Hauptmann to the kidnap ladder, Albert Osborne and the other state hand-writing experts who said Hauptmann penned the ransom notes and other outstanding witnesses at the "trial of the century" were also under subpoena.

Governor Arrives Trenton, N. J., April 2.—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman went before the Mercer county grand jury, which holds the fate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, at 10:45 a. m. today.

Wild applause, mingled with a few scattered jeers, greeted the stocky little chief executive's surprise appearance in the Mercer county courthouse. Accompanied by his lanky personal secretary, William Legay, and a politician, Frank Holmes, the governor raced through the building and up the stairs to the county prosecutor's office.

The governor came at the request of the jury, one of his aides explained. A few minutes before the governor went up, Burlington county Chief of Detectives Ellis H. Parker, was reported to have gone into the jury room by a secret entrance.

It was Parker, the governor's close friend, who arrested Paul H. Wendel, the disbarred attorney who is the center of this weird case. Parker obtained a "confession" (since repudiated) from Wendel and insists that he is the real kidnaper and murderer of baby Lindbergh.

Doctor Is Summoned Shortly after 1 p. m., Dr. Charles H. Mitchell, Mercer county medical examiner, who performed the autopsy on Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., after recovery of the body in May, 1932, was summoned by the jury.

The portly physician, retraced Governor Hoffman's route to the witness room of the grand jury. Before Doctor Mitchell entered the witness room, however, he was suddenly called upon to practice his profession. One of the grand jurors summoned him and a messenger was sent to the building where he administered treatment.

If the grand jury hands up an indictment charging Wendel with the Lindbergh murder, Hauptmann will not go to the electric chair as scheduled, at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Furthermore, one of the governor's aides said, in such an event he won't go for a long time and possibly never.

However, if the jury gives Wendel a clean bill of health, those responsible for his arrest may be prosecuted.

Wendel claims he was "kidnaped" in New York and "tortured" into making the confession which, temporarily at least, has saved Hauptmann from execution.

He said he was forcibly taken to an institution for feeble-minded at New Lisbon, N. J., and held captive for weeks while Detective Parker questioned him.

While the murder charges were being probed against Wendel a parallel investigation was being made of the circumstances surrounding his arrest. It was hinted kidnapping charges may be made against those responsible for it.

Fate In Balance Trenton, N. J., April 2.—Bruno Hauptmann's fate hung in the balance again today. Although the convicted murderer of the Lindbergh baby is doomed to die at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, an atmosphere of uncertainty prevailed in Trenton today and no one knew for sure whether Executioner Robert Elliott would "throw the switch" at the appointed hour.

A new set of invitations to Hauptmann's "execution by electricity" was about to be issued by Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, principal

Today

(Continued from Page Four) the dread of what may come beyond the grave. Many murderers believe that the creator of the universe tortures forever the most imperfect specimens of his handiwork. The worry must add to the punishment. An ordinary murder racketeer named Zied, who killed a policeman, scheduled to die just ahead of Hauptmann, with no one interested in him, said:

"I'm not worrying for I know I've got to go."

HAUPTMANN was doing the worrying. But, by a strange act of fate at the 11th hour, Gov. Hoffman granted Zied a 30-day reprieve. So there was no execution in the state prison at Trenton Tuesday night.

ROBERT ELLIOTT, 67 years old, electric executioner for five states, says he does not care what is said about his profession. Each time he sends a criminal on the long journey he is paid $150. He does not pass sentence, or make the laws. Somebody must "throw the electric switch," or spin the wheel and send the current through the man. He has no responsibility, but Sing Sing prison officials say that he is growing nervous, his hands begin to tremble.

Men executed have no feeling against the executioner. He is only part of the machinery; sometimes they shake hands with him. DICKENS' "Pickwick Papers" was issued 100 years ago Monday last; the day was celebrated by repeating with real horses, coach and human imitations of Mr. Pickwick and his friend, the famous stagecoach driver from London to Rochester. See that your children read "Pickwick Papers," a delight to any intelligent child past 12 years of age. If you do not know Mr. Pickwick, Alfred J. Harcourt, Sergeant Buzfuz, the famous Bardwell versus Pickwick breach of promise case get the book and read it now. All human nature is in it. No book can take its place.

MUSSOLINI'S position in Ethiopia interests England more, as Italian draw near to control Lake Tana, high in the Ethiopian mountains. The Blue Nile starts in that lake, wanders down to join the great Nile that irrigates old Egypt and the British Sudan, with big plans for making England independent of Yankee cotton. All those plans, and the very life of Egypt, depend on the waters of the Nile.

FOR HUNDREDS of miles south of the great Delta, where it empties into the Mediterranean, the Nile goes through a hot sandy country, not a single tributary contributing any water. Haile Selassie, in nominal control of Lake Tana and the source of the Blue Nile, means nothing. Mussolini might mean a great deal, cutting off water and off life, ruining Britain's imperial plans.

MILWAUKEE reports some 120,000 cases of disease called "intestinal influenza". One in four of the city's population are stricken by the epidemic that, fortunately, lacks the deadly quality of "Spanish flu" that came at the end of the big war.

THIS AND other epidemics remind you that man's really dangerous enemies are things too small to be seen. Mammoth hunters of 30,000 years ago did their work well; wolves have gone, but the real enemies that might wipe out the human race are still to be conquered.

The genius of the great Frenchman, Pasteur, helped man in that war against the invisible; he has saved 1,000,000 times more lives than Napoleon destroyed. You and your children should see the admirable Pasteur moving picture.

IT IS GOOD and important news that the government of the United States proposes to do something about the lotteries that take thousands of millions from American geese to be shipped abroad. England permits no printed mention of the Irish sweepstakes; nothing concerning that gambling enterprise, said to have $25,000,000 stored away, not distributed, may be sent through British mails, telegraph or telephone.

It will be interesting to see what our post office can do to enforce laws against lotteries, beginning with "nice people" engaged in promoting home lotteries.

INDO-VIN WORKS ON LIVER AND STOMACH OF THIS LADY

Victim of Sharp Gas Pains, Headaches and Indigestion Says: "I Am Well and Happy Now."

Prominent citizens, many right here in New Castle, have gladly gone on record publicly at the Eckerd Drug Store, endorsing Indo-Vin, the new, scientific medicine that works with the sufferer's food.

Many of these people have suffered for years—spent much money on different treatments—yet they get almost instant results from Indo-Vin. The reason this medicine succeeds where others fail is because it is a combination of several medicaments into one compound including several of Nature's finest medicinal herbs.

Acts on Three Organs

How these ingredients work to benefit the stomach, liver and bowels is best told in the words of those who have been helped by Indo-Vin. Here is a letter from a widely-known lady. She is Mrs. Julia Bennard, 401 Barr St., McDonald, Pa. She says:

Gets Quick Results

"I used to be a regular sufferer from indigestion and was in terrible misery after every meal. My food would turn sour and cause me to have gas pains and make me so sick that I hated to see meal-time arrive. This condition went on for years and I guess I tried everything without any real relief. Then I got Indo-Vin and it helped me more than everything else put together. That sourness left my stomach and I don't have the gas pains like I used to. I can enjoy my meals now and don't feel sick and upset like I did before. I have a real appetite now and feel so much better that I want others to know about this medicine."

What Indo-Vin Is

Indo-Vin is taken after meals and mixes with the food in the stomach; often acts in less than

Flood Control Bill Runs Into Complications

New Senate Controversy Over Inclusion Of 38 Power Projects

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—Passage of the $306,000,000 Wilson-Copeland flood control bill was further complicated today by a new senate controversy over inclusion of 38 power projects at an appropriate cost of $130,000,000.

Army engineers were compiling a report on these projects, dividing the proposed costs between flood control and power benefits. They also may recommend higher construction costs to enlarge the possible power developments. Their report will be ready next week.

Promise Action.
Senate leaders meanwhile promised prompt action on the house resolution authorizing the RFC to lend up to $25,000,000 for rehabilitation of destroyed property in the flooded industrial east. It relaxed the present RFC law regarding collateral and authorized these personal rehabilitation loans on "reasonable security."

The flood control measure appeared headed for considerable senate wrangling. It already has been subjected to controversy because of inclusion of an army engineer rule compelling states and communities to share in the cost of constructing flood control projects.

Outline Projects.
The power controversy developed when it was learned the house had included 38 projects in the bill, on which water power developments were contemplated. Only nine of these projects—all in the Pittsburgh area—were retained in the bill and the others were eliminated.

The projects were scattered thru Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas. The committee ordered the army engineers to report on the power feasibility and power costs of constructing these projects.

Senator Copeland (D) of New York, in charge of the measure, declared power developments should be considered separate from flood control projects.

The nine dual projects left in the bill were: Tionesta creek, Loyahanna creek, Mahoning creek, Red Bank, French creek, Conemaugh river and Allegheny reservoirs in Pennsylvania, the Big Ben reservoir in Kentucky and the Cave Run reservoir in Pennsylvania.

SOUTH SIDE BOARD MEETS WEDNESDAY

South Side Board of Trade members assembled in the office of Alderman E. J. Biondi, East Long avenue, Wednesday night, for their monthly meeting.

Reports were given by H. Clark and President Joseph Frenkel relative to a project to dredge Big Run creek. W. C. Druschel also gave an informal address during the progress of the event.

The organization meets again on Wednesday, May 6, in the office of Alderman Biondi.

Safety Essays Are Ready For Judges

School Students' Writings For Junior Chamber Now Completed

"Safe driving" essays written by New Castle's school students in conjunction with the current street and highway safety campaign of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, were turned into the office of Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green yesterday by the various schools.

Students of Senior high, the Junior high and the grade schools wrote on different safety subjects. Judges of the essays, T. Myron Rice, director of safety for New Castle; T. L. Paden, county chairman of Governor Earle's special committee; B. N. Hanlon, New Castle Motor club officer, and Bruce Ewing, The News, are expected to commence their work within a few days.

A blue ribbon will be awarded for the best paper from each school and a special prize award for the best paper submitted from the grade, Junior high and Senior high schools.

The Junior chamber is continuing its campaign for fewer street and highway accidents.

Pan-Handler Had Fortune

Philadelphia Police Probe Into Strange Case, Derelict Had Almost $7,000

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Authorities today pushed their investigation into the manner in which Harry Bunn, 64, a South Philadelphia pan-handler, amassed a fortune of more than $7,000 while living in poverty.

Police thought he was "just another drunk" when they found him lying in a gutter, but doctors at Philadelphia General hospital diagnosed his illness as malnutrition. In the tattered clothing of the derelict, nurses discovered 858 banknotes, amounting to $6,794. Roll after roll of bills was found sewed beneath patches in his ragged clothing. Besides the bills, Bunn had two bank books showing $2,000 on deposit in two banks at Elizabeth, N. J.

When told by doctors that he hadn't long to live, the dying gaffer asked for a pen and paper. Falteringly, he wrote: "I leave all my property to J. L. Murphy, who befriended me."

Murphy, an undertaker, filled in the story: "I used to give him an occasional half dollar and some old clothes, but I never suspected he had any money. He often worked around the commission market."

"Although he was a pan-handler, I guess most of that money must have been saved from his wages. If he dies, I suppose I'll give the money to charity because I don't need it. But it's certainly bread coming back on the waters, isn't it?"

Capacity Crowd Expected To See 'The Holy City'

Advance Requests For Tickets Indicates Interest In Religious Drama

LARGE CAST IS TAKING PART

With a great demand for tickets for the religious drama, "The Holy City," indications point to the fact that a capacity house will greet the Consistory players this evening and Friday evening, when the production is staged in The Cathedral.

Dress rehearsals held last evening went off splendidly, and many little rough spots were ironed out, so that a finished production will result when the first performance takes place this evening.

Tonight will be Lawrence county night, when residents of the local community will attend. Those who have not secured tickets and wish to take in this splendid drama, may secure tickets from any member of the Valley of New Castle Consistory or procure them at the Consistory office in The Cathedral.

General Chairman Albert B. Street states that the production will start promptly at 8 o'clock, and that those who are not seated at this time must wait until the end of the first scene.

The scenes depict the intrigues which take place along the road to Jerusalem; the court room in Herod's palace; a rocky pass near Jerusalem; Pilate's hall of judgment; the crucifixion; the roof of Herod's palace; at the Joppa gate; and the ascension.

The production is packed full of intensely dramatic action, which is vividly portrayed by a talented cast. It is particularly appropriate at the Easter season.

Friday evening has been reserved for out of town members and their friends, but local residents who are unable to attend this evening may do so Friday evening if there is room. Local people will not be admitted until after 7:50.

Sabbath Services At Temple Israel

Sabbath services will be held at Temple Israel Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Rabbi Norman H. Diamond officiating. The Biblical portions for the second Sabbath of the month of Nissan are taken from the sixth chapter of Leviticus and the third chapter of Malachi. These are special selections for the Great Sabbath, which always immediately precedes Passover. The sermon will deal with an interpretation of this Sabbath.

Passover begins Monday evening of the coming week and is featured by the seder, the symbolic dinner conducted by Jews everywhere.

Naval Recruiter M. L. Nixon today announced that the navy is seeking unemployed and unoccupied college students for training as naval cadet pilots at the present time. The training will be given at a Pensacola, Fla. school. It will include one year of schooling and another year of active duty, after which the student's discharge would come.

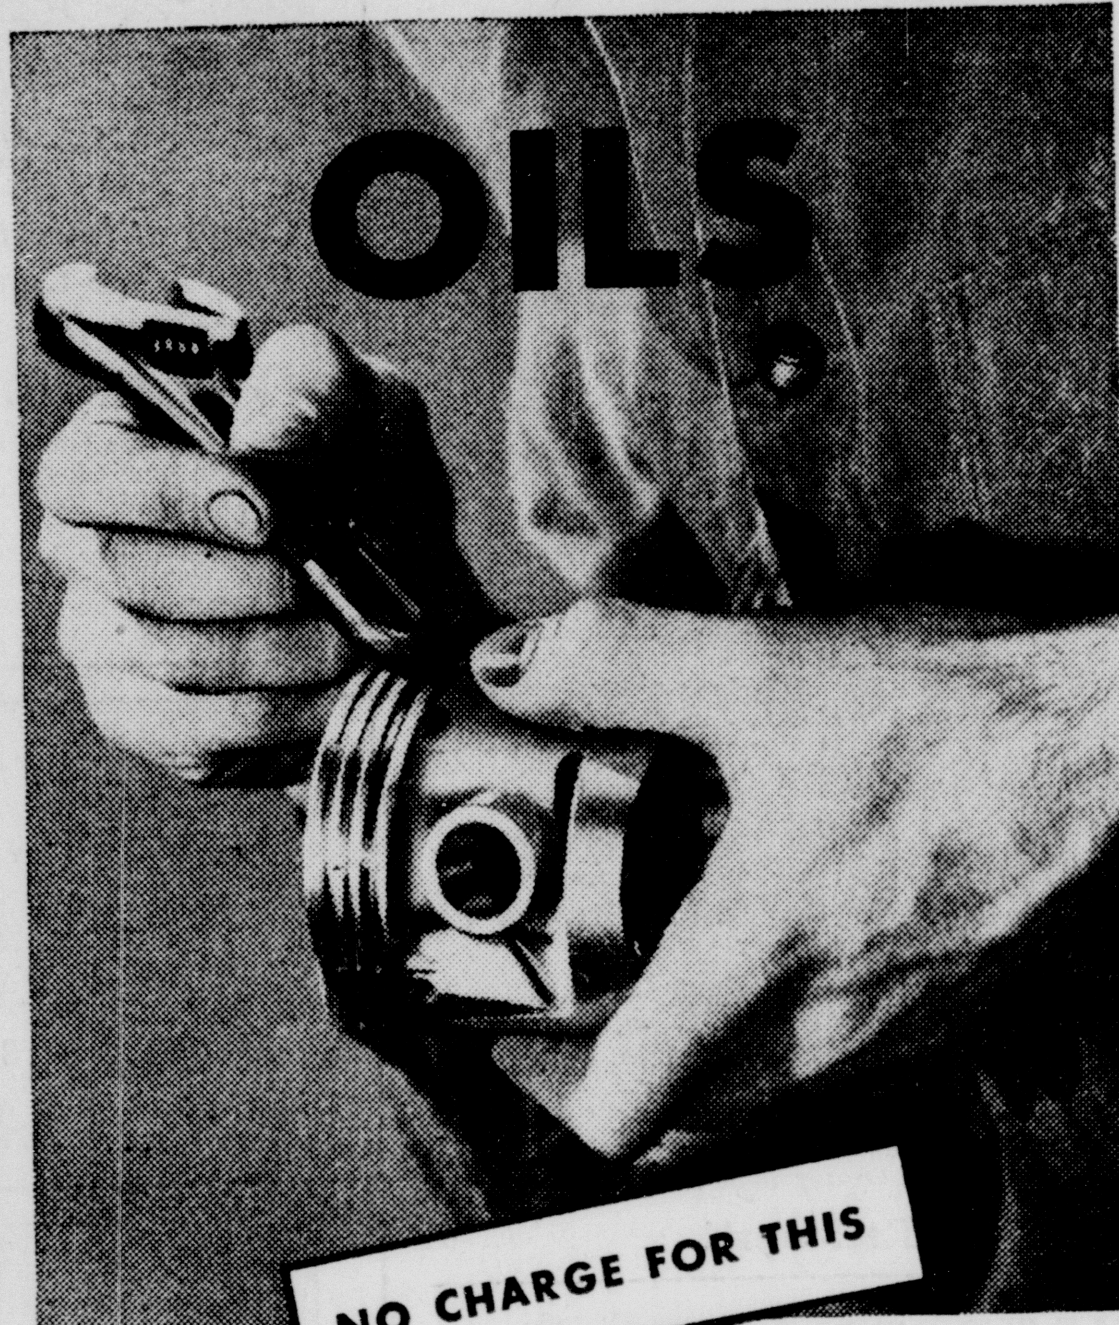

Nixon asked interested college students to reach him at his office in the Federal building immediately.

THERE'S AN ENGINEER IN EVERY GALLON

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DIET WHIMS OF DAD AND CHILD

I wonder how many hundreds of fathers in this country demand that special foods be prepared for them at each meal. Sometimes they will say that they dare not eat the usual foods. Once in a thousand cases, possibly, this may be true, but nearly always they just think certain foods "do not agree with" them, or they will desire special foods just because they are very fond of such.

Do these fathers realize how very childish their food choices are? Well, talk to those who knew these fathers in their infancy and childhood, if you wish to know how their food whims started.

"Dear Dr. Myers: My trouble is getting my little girl, aged 12, to eat the meals I prepare for the rest of us. For example, today I had rice soup, roast beef and potatoes and cake for dessert. She did not want any of these things but asked for French toast, which I finally made for her. . . . What she likes she eats a lot of, but it is very providing to have to make her something different at almost every meal."

Think of the thousands of very conscientious mothers who are wearing themselves out to satisfy the whims of a child like this—and training the child to have still more whims. Consider the ill effects on the character of a child from such treatment.

If you have a child like this, make up your mind at once to be her slave no more. Calmly tell her so. Tell her, furthermore, that no special foods will be prepared for her henceforth, but that she will eat what the family has or nothing; and see to it, if you are in control, that she shall have no food between meals. Then prove that you have character enough to make your word good. Ever think of this as a character problem in yourself before?

Provided this child chooses not to eat, express no concern whatsoever. You gave her an opportunity to choose. She may, however, lose weight. Very well. It will be regained later—in case you prove a master of yourself.

No good reason, however, why the child should not have the privilege to request beforehand that certain foods be included in the family menu; which requests you will honor within reason, remembering of course, the wishes and the welfare of the entire family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Porter of the New Castle Ellwood City road called on Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hart, Saturday afternoon.

The Neshannock, fed by snows melting and the heavy rains of the past week, overflowed its banks and covered the Millburn-Blacktown road coming to the tracks of the railroad, washing the road and leaving mud and debris over fences and pastures. For several days the road was impassable.

Due to road conditions the first and second degree terms of Millburn Grange were unable to practice and the exemplification of these degrees was postponed until the meeting on April 10. A program of humorous "skits" was presented by the lecturer on Friday evening.

About fifteen of the subordinate members visited the juvenile members during the evening and were obligated as honorary members of that order. The juveniles, under the leadership of Mrs. John Robinson, Matron, and Charles Masson, master, are planning an interesting year's work.

Fear Processing Taxes Refund May Be Ordered

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Fearful that refund of almost $1,000,000,000 of AAA processing taxes may be ordered by the courts, the administration is planning a "rider" to the new tax bill revising present refund law.

Administration legal experts believe supreme court decisions of the past three months carry an intimation that Section 21 D of the amended AAA law may be held invalid. Under this provision, adopted by the senate after it refused to bar refunds entirely, processors must show that they did not pass on the tax to consumers before obtaining refunds.

The plan is to revise the provision and set up definite standards. In the absence of such standards it is feared the supreme court might open the way to processors to claim all processing taxes paid.

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. PROBE PLANE CRASH FATAL TO TWO MEN

Plane Catches Fire On Flight

Pilot And Air Line Company Official Killed In Accident

MISHAP OCCURS AT PAVILION, N. Y.

(International News Service) PAVILION, N. Y., April 2.—Department of Commerce officials today were investigating the crash of an American Air Line passenger plane here last night that cost the lives of two men.

The dead: Pilot Sanford L. Underwood, 32, crack flyer, of Buffalo.

William L. Garrett, 35, Newark, assistant flight superintendent of the air line company.

The plane was en route to Buffalo from Newark. Witnesses declared the ship, a new eight-passenger Stinson tri-motor, caught fire as it flew low over the farm of Ralph Shepherd, two miles east of here.

The plane then crashed, careening across the farm and strewn wreckage for 200 yards. Underwood was killed instantly. Garrett lived for 30 minutes after rescuers reached him.

E. L. Preston, station manager of the American Air Lines at Buffalo, said he had no idea what had caused the crash. He said Underwood had been in radio communication with Buffalo shortly before the crash and had reported no trouble.

PRESIDENT TO PROLONG HIS FISHING TRIP

Absence Of Pressing Official Situation At Washington Allows Extension

(International News Service) MIAMI, Fla., April 2.—In the absence of any pressing official situation in Washington, it appeared likely today that President Roosevelt would prolong his fishing cruise in southern waters until next Monday.

This would add on to the executive's vacation approximately the three days he lost when the eastern flood emergency detained his departure from Washington.

If the original return schedule is followed, the president would get back to the capital the middle of next week. He is due to stop off at least a day enroute at Warm Springs, Ga.

The presidential fishing convoy was still anchored in the vicinity of the "Tongue of the Ocean" this morning—that being a spot about 80 miles south of Nassau where coral reefs frame a stretch of water a thousand fathoms deep. Mr. Roosevelt was looking for good fishing off the beaten track.

Motoring Safety Greater Problem Than Air Safety

So Declares Famous Aviator, Amelia Earhart Putnam, Coming Here April 23

The safety of the motoring public today is a more pressing question than that of safety in aviation, according to Amelia Earhart, America's premier woman flyer, who is to speak Thursday, April 23 at the Senior High School under the auspices of the Lions Club.

"Today," said Miss Earhart, "one may fly in a licensed airplane with a feeling of security. He may be sure that the ship is all right mechanically, that it is designed and tested to meet rigid standards of safety, and that the flying personnel is as competent as the equipment."

In motoring the traveler must guard against the dangerous practices of other drivers. Many motorists make incorrect turns. They pull out of line. In the air, one just doesn't do that. A rigid code of rules governs the operation of planes. Corresponding rules apply to highways might well be employed to control automotive traffic. It should be uniform all over the country, and, above all, it should be enforced. Cars should be carefully inspected at least twice a year under efficient state control.

"While I normally prefer flying to driving," said Miss Earhart, "the time factor is not so great in the relatively short distances I usually have to cover between lectures, and the automobile is my second choice for transportation. I find that automobile manufacturers have been diligent, in putting safety devices into their products, and I enjoy this feeling of security. I am confident as to the brakes, the steel bodies, and the safety controls built into the automobiles. If we had physical examinations of drivers commensurate with the 'physicals' given pilots, there would be, I'm sure, a far greater sense of security on our highways."

Dangerous drivers who have been so proven in court should not be allowed to operate a car at any time. In aviation, if a pilot indulges in dangerous practices he is grounded, meaning that he can't fly at all. There's no fooling that way.

Since some of the cities that she visits on her lecturing schedule do not have convenient or adequate landing fields, Miss Earhart uses her automobile, for her inter-city driving.

"While I normally prefer flying to driving," said Miss Earhart, "the time factor is not so great in the relatively short distances I usually have to cover between lectures, and the automobile is my second choice for transportation. I find that automobile manufacturers have been diligent, in putting safety devices into their products, and I enjoy this feeling of security. WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Third Party Is Held Unlikely

Lack Of Leadership Will Probably See No New Party In Field

REALIGNMENT OF PARTIES LIKELY

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S. Street

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—There are almost no prospects of a third party movement of any consequence in the coming political campaign.

That is to say, there is no prospect of any new lineup even as formidable as, say, the one which ran the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette in 1924, carrying one state for the presidency—the senator's home Commonwealth, Wisconsin.

The weakness of third party sentiment is that it lacks leadership.

It has no one as leader, for example, as the late Senator La Follette was. He realized many months in advance of 1924's conventions that neither side, by any possibility, would nominate a candidate satisfactory to him, and had his own organization ready-made to put him into the field on short notice, as it did, with a very creditable demonstration of enthusiasm. In fact, he had both the Republicans and Democrats considerably scared. Not that they expected him to be elected to the White House, but they were afraid his showing might be strong enough to make his group a major factor in 1928, thus snuffing out one or the other of the pair of old-time groups—effecting, in short, a reshuffle of the voters, from meaningless Republicans and Democrats into meaningful liberals and conservatives.

TIME NOT RIPE

It did not work; the time had not come.

Nevertheless, it was a vigorous attempt at a party realignment. It was amply premeditated, too.

In the present instance no preliminary spadework has been done. There have been mutterings, but they have been indefinite. There has been talk of Al Smith as an independent candidate; of a walk-out and independent candidacy by Senator William E. Borah.

But nothing explicit; nothing prearranged.

And a third party presidential campaign cannot be launched in a hurry. It is a tremendous job—or it falls flat.

The Democratic and Republican conventions, both of them, will not be over until nearly the end of June. By that date it will be much too late for third partyism to get into action, starting from scratch.

REALIGNMENT IS LOGICAL

A party realignment is logical. Republicans and Democrats for a long time meant approximately the same thing.

In the last administration they have become decidedly confusing. The Republicans, traditionally centralizationists, have become the defenders of state rights; the Democrats, traditional defenders of state rights, now are centralizationists.

Politically speaking, Rooseveltianism has been to the "left."

Now its interests is to be reasonably to the "right," complaints having been made that it is too radical.

Republicanism, however, has been accused of being too extremely "rightist" (that is to say reactionary in its tendencies), which makes it seem desirable for the G. O. P. to be moderately "leftist."

CONFUSING

All right. Centralizationist Republicans are state rights Democrats, "leftist" Republicans are "rightist" Democrats—and vice versa.

Each party is the other one. And there cannot be any agreement on a new party.

On Court House Hill

County commissioners George H. Bolinger and Joseph T. Hannon were down in Little Beaver township yesterday checking over the registry list with the assessor in that district. It seems that the party affiliations of some of the registrants were not clearly shown. They were able to get the information desired from the assessor.

In the case of Louis F. Kohn, trading as the Fleming Structural Steel Company against Carl Becker a motion was made in court today to strike off plaintiff's answer to a set-off, counter claim and new matter, alleged by defendant. It was also contended that the answer had not been filed within the customary fifteen days. The case is one growing out of differences over an account. A rule was granted.

In the estate of Eleanor Hidge, her grand-mother, Sarah Zeigler of Ellwood City, with whom she makes her home, presented a petition asking that the young woman's guardian, the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, be granted permission to pay the petitioner ten dollars per month for one year. The petition was granted.

Stephen Rubino, of the second ward, Ellwood City, who had filed a nomination paper as a candidate for a place on the Democratic county committee, was the only person to withdraw from the race, according to reports from the county commissioners' office. Tuesday was the last day for withdrawal of candidates.

County commissioners clerk, William A. Eakin, will begin making up copy for the ballot to be used at the spring primary, as soon as he receives the necessary data from Harrisburg. This will include the order in which the names of candidates for congress, state senate assembly and national delegates will be printed.

ed. In order that no time may be lost he is now making up a list of the number of ballots of each kind that will be needed for the different voting precincts of the county. He cannot go by the old lists for the reason that changes have been made in some party affiliations, and the registry lists must be checked to get the correct figures. When all the data is ready bids will be asked for the printing of the ballots.

It is estimated that considerably over one million dollars in mortgages and securities, subject to the county four mill tax, was turned in to the county commissioners' office, as a result of the recent drive of the state department for return of securities subject to the state one mill tax.

Considerable credit is due Register and Recorder William R. Hanna for the active interest he took in assisting in making out returns. There was no one stationed here to assist taxpayers in making their returns. The state sent out blanks to individuals upon which to make their returns, but as it was the first year for personal property tax returns to the state there were scores of individuals who were missed.

Mr. Hanna noted this fact and sent to the state department for blanks. As soon as it became known that he had received a hundred blanks, they were gobbled up. He sent for another hundred, and a third consignment, and meanwhile assisted taxpayers in making out their returns.

This was not a part of his duties, but he volunteered his services. The work was done without any additional cost to the county and as the state returns were made out Hanna informed the taxpayer that it would be necessary for him or her to make a return to the county. As a result the county will get considerable money this year, that it would not likely have received had it not been for Mr. Hanna's activities.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland, who has had a force of extra clerks writing up the 1936 tax cards, sent out the first list of cards yesterday. They were for eleven of the thirty-seven districts of the county. As fast as the cards for other districts are completed they will be mailed. The cards are being sent out considerably earlier this year than in some former years. It is hoped that all who can will pay their taxes promptly. If this is done the county commissioners may be able to get along without borrowing any more money. They have had to borrow to meet the running expenses of the county until the new money comes in. Those who pay their taxes now will get a five per cent discount.

A mimeographed sheet, the bulletin reported items of special CCG interest and told of rescue work.

It was mailed here by Charles G. M. Shaffer, who gave New Castle, R. F. D. No. 7, as his home address.

Report Spitz On Way To Trenton

Probe Story Chicago Prisoner Negotiated To Buy $20,000 Ransom

CLAIM HOFFMAN ARRANGED RELEASE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 2.—While Stephen Spitz, Bridewell prisoner, was being sped to Trenton today, the Chicago Evening American said it learned that his release here was arranged personally by Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey. The governor, who once reprieved Bruno Hauptmann and has steadfastly championed the condemned man, sent $872 to Chicago to pay the balance of Spitz's fine for conviction on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, it was stated.

Bernard Finnigan, Spitz's lawyer, received the money from Governor Hoffman, the American said. This statement was vouched for, the newspaper revealed, by Finnigan's wife after Spitz and the lawyer departed by train for New Jersey.

Spitz last January said he had negotiated to buy $20,000 of the Lindbergh ransom bills at 40 cents on the dollar. Later he said he cashed $5,000 in bills and was willing to disclose the hiding place personally to Governor Hoffman.

At the time of this statement Spitz had completed his jail sentence, but a $1,000 fine remained against him. Because he could win respite from the fine through pauper proceedings, he remained in jail.

Last Saturday a telegram from Trenton, purporting to have been sent by Governor Hoffman, was received by Chief Justice Stone of the municipal court. This message asked that Spitz's story be re-investigated and inquired how the man's release could be effected.

Judge Stoneby, Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin and Gerhardt Mayne of the Chicago crime commission, and Attorney General Finnigan held several conferences and interviewed the prisoner as the result of the telegram.

Spitz, the American said, was able to convince the officials that his story might be of some importance in the case. If the story stands up, officials pointed out, it might further complicate the case and might conceivably clear Hauptmann or definitely prove that he had accomplices.

Attorney Finnigan insisted he did not know the source of the money obtained for Spitz's release. However, the American said, his wife said she knew it came from Governor Hoffman.

She Solved Murder

DOROTHY ROBBINS

When Dorothy Robbins disappeared, Durland Nash, 19, one of her friends, was questioned and Chicago police say he confessed that he and three other boys had framed a fake telephone call, lured Dr. Silber C. Peacock from his home to attend a sick baby, then held up the physician and killed him. The Chicago doctor was killed January 2, last, and the case was a complete mystery until young Nash was arrested. Nash, Robert Goethe and Elmer Reck, all 19, are charged with the murder.

Call Meeting Of Locarno Powers

France Declares Negotiations
With Germany Are Out
Of Question

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 2.—Declaring that negotiations with Germany under Adolf Hitler's terms and British "refereeing" is at present out of the question, French officials today called for a meeting of the Locarno powers next week in Brussels to consider their next step.

France also brought renewed pressure upon Britain for immediate opening of general army staff consultations, promised in a communication received from London today by the French and Belgian governments.

It is too late now for actual military action against Germany, a high official said, but the possibility of economic and financial sanctions still has not been removed.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin and Premier Albert Sarraut conferred on Hitler's memorandum today, and it will be taken up by the cabinet later. Meanwhile official circles described it as "inadequate" and of no assistance in the present situation.

Before seeing Sarraut, Flandin studied the Hitler document with foreign office experts, who agreed that Hitler had not answered any of the questions posed by Flandin in his speech Sunday, when the foreign minister called for definite guarantees covering Danzig, Memel and Austria.

Partial Allotments Made For Airports

Will Make Necessary Improvements At Four Airports
In State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 2.—Partial allotments totaling more than $750,000 for the improvement of four Pennsylvania airports at Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Oil City and Warren have been authorized, it was disclosed today by state WPA administrator Edward N. Jones.

The partial allotments will permit employment of 1,000 men, taken from relief rolls, within two weeks, it was stated.

On the Pittsburgh project, the Allegheny county municipal airport, one of the three existing runways is to be extended nearly a mile. Two roads will be constructed to serve the field and a drainage system installed. The partial allocation was $141,522, and the project will employ about 450 men.

Two runways will be hard-surfaced at the Oil City field, a hangar will be built and the field graded. The allocation for the project which will employ about 2,000 men, totaled $105,000.

At the Wilkes-Barre airport, a 4,000 foot hard surfaced runway will be constructed, field lights installed and the field drained and graded. The partial allocation for the work, to employ 225 men, was $167,000.

Should a house number be painted on the curb in front of any person's house, this does not mean that the person who occupies the house is obligated to pay for the work. It was stated today by C. S. McNulty, Washington, who was granted permission to put through the job here. A card which will be handed to the occupant of the house reads: "We hope you will consider this service worthy and make a voluntary contribution to pay the men who are doing this work. It is distinctly understood that there is no obligation to give anything if you do not wish to." However it is out of the voluntary contributions that the painters will receive their wages from McNulty.

Schoolboys Will Strive For Highest Athletic Award In Pennsylvania

State championship honors, the highest award that the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association has to confer on scholastic basketball teams awaits the winner of the New Castle-Newport final game at Harrisburg Saturday night.

The starting time of the game is 8 o'clock. The scene of the game will be the Zembo Mosque floor. Newport won the right to represent the eastern end of the state in the final game by dropping a mighty fine Lebanon night team at Harrisburg Tuesday night 33 to 32.

Looks Like Classic

New Castle High "Red Hurricanes" earned the right to meet Newport by taking the measure of a scrappy little Franklin Borough high team at Beaver Falls last Saturday night.

The game that the two teams will unfold at the State Capital should be the classic of the year.

Both New Castle and Newport will probably arrive in Harrisburg on Friday afternoon and ask for permission to use the spacious Zembo Mosque floor for practice session Friday night. This of course will only be a light drill to acquaint the players with the floor.

Gardner In Charge

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner will head the New Castle High party out of New Castle Friday morning at 7:15 a. m. Upon arrival at Harrisburg late in the afternoon the boys will be quartered at the Penn-Harris hotel.

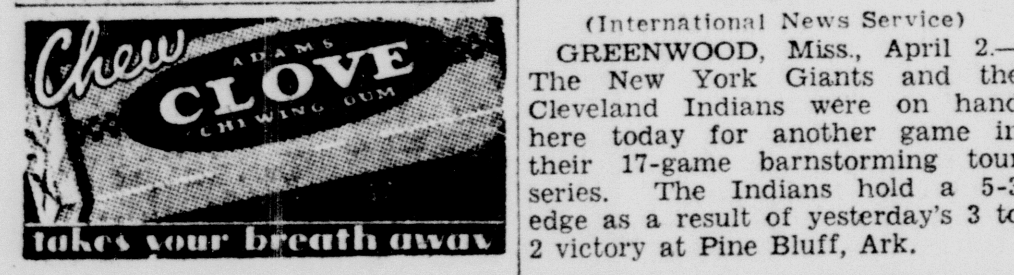

Tickets for the game will sell for the same price as for the Sharon and Franklin Borough games. The tickets will be 50 cents for students if bought in New Castle and $1 at the gate in Harrisburg. The adult tickets in New Castle sell for 75 cents and will be $1.00 at the gate in Harrisburg. These prices are set by the State Board of Control and the New Castle High officials do not get any of the receipts at 13 men.

No Baseball At New Castle High

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High were very vehement this morning in their denial of the published story in the Pittsburgh paper of New Castle High in the W. P. I. A. L. baseball league.

The story has New Castle in the Section F, with Midland, Ellwood City, Aliquippa and Shenango High. "We know nothing about this whatsoever," was the way both men put it today when asked for a statement.

Bobby Jones Real Threat In Tourney

Jones Re-Enters Competitive Field In Masters Tourney

Shot Four Practice Rounds For Total Of 16 Under Par At Augusta Course

(By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor)

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—Having labeled the fair name of his own Augusta national course with four consecutive practice rounds for a record of 16 under par, the ceaseless prattle around here this morning was not of what Bobby Jones might do in his annual Masters Tournament, starting today. It was strictly of what he will do—if, and provided the pros. let him alone.

He will "murder the field," they say, if he can and is permitted to forget his obligation as host. Even the pros themselves guardedly admit that, at least the old guard pros who can afford to be frank because they know very well that, as far as the championship is concerned, the parade has gone by and that, if they ever see it again, they'll be lapped.

Can't Upset Jones

They admit there are only two ways of stopping Jones when he's hot and the other, of course, is to hit him over the head with a baseball bat. Anyhow, there are whippersnappers today that "needling" might be necessary, not during the man's round, naturally, but in the locker room and the bar. Sotto voce criticisms of the course, the licker, the greens; anything that might be calculated to upset and distress a man who is "fronting" for the course, it will be only a coincidence, perhaps, but it probably will happen that Jones or one of his friends are within earshot at the time. I need not add that, as art needleworkers, the professional golfers of American hemstitch some interesting designs upon a man's conscience.

The immediate point about Jones' play in this, his third appearance since his withdrawal from golf in 1930, is that he has got back his putting. With courses and club heads standardized that's all a golf championship amounts to nowadays. It goes to the man holding the longest putt.

Couldn't Putt

Playing in the first Masters two years ago, Jones couldn't putt and finished fifteenth. In the second meeting last year, he couldn't have swept them in with a street cleaner's broom and finished off somewhere behind the tradesmen's entrance. Moreover, one need only consider the cases of Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta and Paul Runyan, the ranking money winners of professional golf.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Charles Harris, West Palm Beach, continued yesterday his drive against major tennis stars by beating John Van Ryn, Philadelphia Davis Cup player, in the sixth annual River Oaks tournament at Houston, Tex., 3-6, 6-0, 6-1. The powerful forehand drive of the Florida ace proved too much for Van Ryn, who was bothered by the Texas heat and constantly went by the Davis Cup player for aces.

In the fourth round Simms made Thomas' knees buckle with a right to the chin. However, Thomas recovered and in the fifth sent a stiff punch that landed on Eddie's wind. The blow hurt and he suffered from the punch during the balance of the fight. Ten thousand fans watched the fight. Simms has been signed for another fight at St. Louis.

OPPOSE KNITTING IN CLASSROOMS

BOULDER, Colo.—"No," answered members of the University of Colorado faculty to questions as to whether they would permit knitting in their classes.

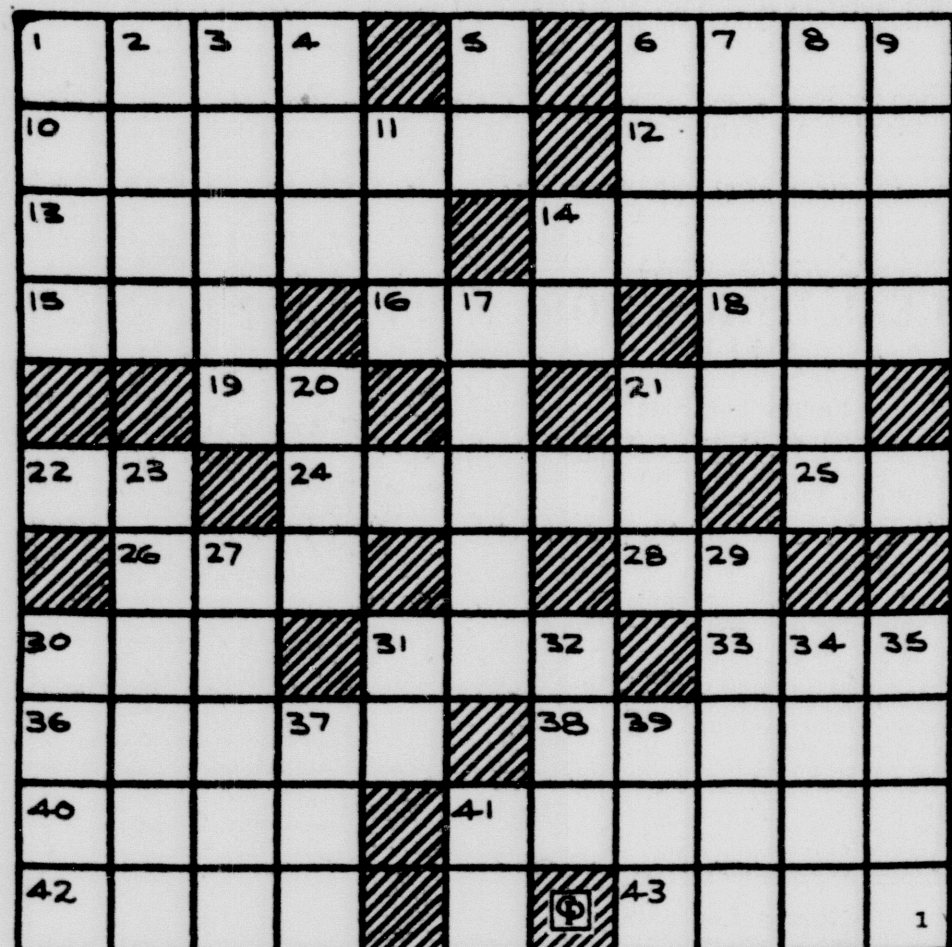

Knitting would interfere with the "voltage" necessary for complete attention. Knitting would slow up the speed of the conscious mind, as it is a purely mechanical motion to but few addicts.

Knitting would distract the attention of other students. Only one instructor took exception. To him, he declared, it mattered not if students knit, slept or told jokes instead of getting what he offered.

As the demand for the privilege was anything but unanimous, the matter was dropped.

State Institutions Will Be Improved

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
HARRISBURG, April 2.—Terming over-crowded conditions in state institutions as "a disgrace to Pennsylvania," Commander John D. Pennington, secretary of welfare, today planned to confer with WPA Administrator Edward N. Jones to determine how extensive a program of remedial action can be carried out at this time.

With approximately $2,500,000 on hand to undertake work in the commonwealth's institutions, Pennington said he had four alternative plans under consideration. Which will be selected, he explained, depends upon how much money can be made available.

Pointing out the ideal plan would be a long-range program extending over a 10-year period and covering all the needed corrections in the 29 institutions under his department, the welfare secretary asserted.

"Overcrowding in our institutions is a serious problem and a disgrace to the state. It is now a question of what the general assembly and the people of Pennsylvania will do about it."

"Correction of fire and safety hazards, under the present cost of construction and labor, will run into $3,000,000," Pennington said. "However, we can do a lot of these problems with the $2,500,000 now available."

Explaining the allocation of federal funds was contingent upon being matched by state funds, Pennington said he would discuss with Jones how much federal money could be made available. All unnecessary projects will be eliminated at present, he said, until the question of money is settled.

Cost of institutional construction improvements, he added, has been increased because of flood damage to many of the buildings.

The matter of over-crowded conditions, Pennington said, may be included in the call for the forthcoming special session of the legislature. Gov. George H. Earle has already expressed his desire to place this subject in the call but its inclusion will probably depend upon approval by the joint legislative committee considering subjects for action at the session.

Of his four plans, Pennington said, they included: First, correction of fire and safety hazards only; second, just flood damage; third, only urgent items such as maintenance, and fourth, the entire, long-range program to cover all institutional needs including over-crowding.

Governor Landon Will Make Visit To West Middlesex To Attend June Celebration At Town Of His Birth Is Report

Reports from West Middlesex officials reveal that Governor Alfred M. Landon, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, and William Powell, prominent movie star, will appear in person in West Middlesex, Pennsylvania, during the week of June 1.

The event will be the 100th anniversary of the town's founding. The same period of years is attributed to the service of the West Middlesex Methodist church with the congregation joining in making the event a dual celebration.

The program planned calls for a week of festivities certain to be epochal in every respect.

At the present time the town of West Middlesex is a national point of interest being the birthplace of Alfred M. Landon, governor of Kansas, and William Powell, movie star.

Thousands of people from all parts of the surrounding districts are expected to attend this celebration.

Songfest Enjoyed Wednesday Night At First Baptist Musical Program Featured At Last Night's Evangelistic Service

A program of unusual interest was presented by Dr. Harry Von Bruch and Jimmie Davis at the First Baptist church last night. After a young people's session in which the evangelist answered questions which were presented to him from the floor of the house, the regular service began in the church auditorium with a songfest. A choir which filled the choir loft not only led the congregational singing but presented a special number under the direction of the evangelist. Jimmie Davis sang several numbers and played his own accompaniment on the grand piano which had been placed on the platform.

Dr. Von Bruch decided to postpone the address which he had announced on "What Does It Mean To Be Born Anew?" until tonight, and he spoke on "The Transfiguration of Christ."

In the afternoon yesterday Von Bruch and Davis appeared before the Benjamin Franklin junior high school in a program of music and humorous address. They will appear at other schools later.

Sunday School night will be observed at the Baptist church on Friday night and Superintendent Paul Weller is expecting a record-breaking attendance. Saturday night will be "surprise night."

House Numbers Will Be Painted On Street Curb

City Officials Grant Permission For Work, Mayor Announces

Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated today that city officials have approved a plan presented by C. S. McNulty, of Washington, D. C., which will result in residence numbers being painted along the curb in front of each house in the city. There are approximately 10,000 residences here. Seven local men will be provided with work for seven weeks. Property-owners can give any amount they wish as payment. The average donation according to experience gained in other cities has been from 15 to 25 cents.

According to McNulty the house number will be painted in white on a black background. The numerals will be 2 1/2 inches high. Where there is no curb the number will be painted on the sidewalk, McNulty told officials.

He added that at night it will be easy for anyone driving an automobile to ascertain the number of a house as the headlights will shine on the number along the curb.

McNulty has done this work in 93 cities in 15 states, he told the city officials, and they gave him approval to go ahead with the job here.
